Walking vs. Running

Which is better for you, walking or running?

I don't enjoy running, but I want to get the most out of my workouts. I would be willing to walk longer if I knew I was getting the same results.

I prefer running rather than walking for just a simple reason that is, running is much quicker than walking! I save a lot of my time by running regularly. ;)

But I won't recommend it to all those who are overweighted.

But for me I think the best is hiking the hill. Just walking when going up any hill is more effective than just normal running. Just my opinion.

The best resource of sweat for me is climbing a fort. It really helps me in reducing my unwanted body fat. BTW running is also a good option :)
